

Citizen Voice's SAFELY OUT Project
1st Anniversary Press Conference
August 29, 2007

Some of the many financial supporters of Citizen Voice's SAFELY OUT™ project. By the first anniversary of the pilot project in the Sacramento region, we had reached our target goal of commitments to distribute 10,000 to the elderly, disabled, and families with small children. (Pictured from left to right) Citizen Voice Co-Founders Gary and Elyse Dietrich join representatives from Eskaton, Soroptimist International of Sacramento, Clear Channel Radio, Capital Christian Center, Steamatic of Sacramento, Sacramento County Supervisor Roger Dickinson, First Responder EMS, Wood Rodgers, and Placer Sierra Bank.

The house, overlooking the American River in the background, is in one of the most flood prone areas in the nation. With the SAFELY OUT™ project, we are ensuring that during these floods, our most vulnerable will be able to get safely out of their homes.

Sacramento County Sheriff McGinness, a supporter of the project from its inception, being interviewed by the media.

Sacramento County Supervisor Roger Dickinson being interviewed by Bay Area radio station KCBS regarding his support for the project.